

Research profile

Email contact: yan_zhu@fudan.edu.cn

Dr. Yan Zhu is a Lecturer at the College of Foreign Languages and Literature at Fudan University, and a research associate and teacher educator at the Shanghai Centre for Research in English Language Education (SCRELE). Dr. Zhu's research focuses on foreign language teaching curriculum innovation, task-based language teaching, and teacher education. Her publications have appeared in international and domestic journals, including Language Teaching, System, The Modern Language Journal, Annual Review of Applied Linguistics, among others. She is currently the principal investigator for a project supported by the National Social Science Fund of China. She is the associate editor of Language Teaching for Young Learners, an academic, peer-refereed journal. Dr. Zhu was awarded 'the Teaching Achievement Prize' by the Shanghai Municipal Education Commission in 2014.